for Business School.

Several prominent men have been obtained for the new faculty staff of the Columbia School of Business. The lames of the new appointees will be given out this week. Efforts have been made to get men who would make the fourses thoroughly practical and who are experienced in all modern business and banking methods.

Plans for the school are being pushed, that it may open in September. Professor Eghert is in close touch with the large business and banking houses downtown and expects to receive their cooperation. Professor Eghert aims to have the students spend a certain amount of time during their summer vacations, or even during the academic par, in downtown offices, gaining practical experience.

President Nicholas Murray Butler, it is said, is pleased with the men whom professor Eghert has indicated to come Conference of Pension Committees Expected to Decide on Measure.

pected to Decide on Measure.

Henry Bruere announced last night at a conference on teachers' pensions in the Russell Sage Foundation Building, 130 East Twenty-second Street, that the complex problem of public school teachers' pensions would in all probability be "wiped off the slate" late to-day and that a suitable bill on pension legislation would be ready for presentation to the Legislature. This he expects, will follow a final meeting of the committee on pensions of the Interborough Teachers' Association and Interborough Teachers' Association and a sub-committee of the Mayor's pension

Mr. Bruere said that while the teachers desired certain things, they were dealing with their own money, while he handled public funds. Clyde Furst, of the Carnegie Foundation, explained pension methods of different cities and states. Several other teachers spoke on technical phases of the question. The general opinion was that the mat-ter should be settled at once as effi-

They usually take the income as it comes along and use it without laying aside a reserve sufficient to meet fixed charges, such as taxes, interest, upkeep, etc.

We have clients who say to us: "Let us have a check the first of each month which we can depend on."

Our service to them provides a definite apportionment of income, giving them monthly as much as possible, but retaining a sum adequate to meet all charges when they fall due.

At your convenience, we will come to you or you may come to us.
